Perspectives on the Ethics of Punishment in the United States and India

9th - 16th October 2016

A Course under Global Initiative of Academic Networks (GIAN)

Organized by
School of Humanities and Social Sciences
IIT Mandi

Course Overview

This course explores some of the enduring dimensions of the most important ethical issues in the area of criminal justice: crime, law, judgment, punishment, and mercy from the perspective of the United States and India. The course will utilize both classical and modern texts to trace the evolution of thought on these topics; it will analyze the multiple ways they are understood and expressed in the current context; and it will create the opportunity for participant to configure the most intellectually coherent and ethically sound understanding of these concepts in the current practice of criminal justice.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Modules</th>
<th>Who Can Attend the Course</th>
<th>Course Registration Fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Module A: Introduction: an overview of the Criminal Justice System of our two countries; What is the nature of our violent and anti-social tendencies?; Why do we punish?; Who Do We Punish?; How do we punish?</td>
<td>Students of B.Tech, M.Sc/M.A, M.Tech/M.Phil, and Ph.D. researchers, teachers, managers, technicians, legal experts, activists/journalists, policy makers, and social scientists.</td>
<td>Students/Scholars from recognized Universities/Institutions: Rs. 5000/-. Members of Industry organizations or Corporates: Rs. 10000/-. Members from abroad: US $500. Registration fee covers course material, working lunch, and refreshments during the course. Accommodation may be provided upon request. Payment should be through Demand Draft in favour of “Registrar, IIT Mandi” payable at Mandi, HP.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Module B: Law and Judgment; Law and Violence; Is there justice without mercy?; Restorative justice; Summary and Concluding remarks</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Faculty

Prof. Andrew Skotnicki is a Professor of Religious Ethics, Department of Religious Studies, Manhattan College at New York. His research interests include, not confined to, theological and moral implications of Criminal Justice, Religious and Social Ethics and the Sociology of Religion.

Dr. Ashok Kumar M. is Assistant Professor of Sociology, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, Indian Institute of Technology Mandi. His primary research interests include Sociology of Religion, Caste, and Religious and Ethnic Minorities of India.

Course Co-ordinator
Dr. Ashok Kumar M.
Assistant Professor, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, Indian Institute of Technology Mandi. Mandi – 175001. India
Tel: +91 889 432 7325; Email: ashok@iitmandi.ac.in; Website: http://iitmandi.ac.in/academics/GIAN_2016/ GIAN Website: http://www.gian.iitkgp.ac.in/