About The Course

The international trafficking of illegal narcotics and other pharmaceuticals has been a global problem for over a century. From the Opium Wars of the 1800s to the current battles among drug cartels in Mexico, this course offers an in-depth analysis of the epidemic of drug abuse and its association with crime.

The purpose of this course is to expose students, academics, police personnel, criminal investigation agencies, etc., to a variety of topics and broaden their understanding of the problem.

Objectives of the course include familiarizing with the depth and breadth of the global drug trafficking problems through study and critical analysis of governmental reports for specific world regions as evidenced within recently published reports of agencies such as the Report of the International Narcotics Control Board (INCB Report 2015), the World Drug Report published by UNODC and other Reports published by the Governments of the specific countries. The Characteristics of Criminal organizations involved in drug trafficking will also be discussed. The course has also aimed for the participants to understand India’s problems with the whole gamut of possible issues such as illegal cultivation of opium and cannabis, diversion from legally grown opium, clandestine labs (starting from methamphetamine making facilities to sophisticated factories manufacturing Methamphetamine, MDMA, etc.), smuggling of drugs into the country, smuggling of drugs out of the country, trafficking of drugs through the country, abuse of drugs, diversion of precursors, etc.
